

Dan Feldman is an active competitive shooter and certified USPSA Range Officer and Chief Range Officer with experience competing, officiating, coaching new shooters, and supporting matches throughout New England. He has served as match staff at both local and major events and is passionate about growing the shooting sports, creating a positive experience for new and experienced shooters, and giving back to the community that has given him so much.

Professionally, Dan works as a Senior Project Manager in healthcare construction, where he manages complex projects, coordinates multidisciplinary teams, and is responsible for planning, budgeting, scheduling, and problem-solving. As a member of the Board of Directors, Dan hopes to bring both his professional project-management experience and his perspective as an active competitor and range official to help support the club's continued growth, improve the member experience, and ensure the club remains a safe, welcoming, and successful organization for years to come.
